The French design allows the full 15 3/4" length of the barrel to come in contact with dough, so you are able to roll more surface at a time versus a rolling pin with handles.; The 1.5" center diameter gradually tapers to 1.25" at the ends, allowing you to rotate smoothly without leaving lines in your dough at the ends like a straight pin can. The rod shape transfers a sense of the dough ...

Proofing (also called proving or more rarely blooming), as the term is used by bakers, is the final rise of shaped bread dough before baking. It refers to a specific rest period within the more generalized process known as fermentation. Fermentation is a step in creating yeast breads and baked goods where the yeast is allowed to leaven the dough. ...
